

Harvest Home Celtic Workshop for Utah Old Time Fiddlers

Workshop Details

Dan and Annie Eastmond, a Celtic duo called Harvest Home, are conducting a Celtic Music Workshop on Saturday, March 23, 2019 from 12:30 – 2:00 pm at the West Valley City Hall, immediately following the Salt Lake Chapter’s regular jam session. The workshop is free to participants, sponsored and paid for by the OTF organization. At the workshop Harvest Home will combine performances of Irish, Scottish, and Welsh tunes with “hands on” skill development on participants’ own instruments. The duo’s singing and instrumentals are accompanied by fiddle, mandolin, guitar, banjo, tin whistle, and concertina. The workshop addresses the playing of common Celtic musical forms: airs, reels, waltzes, hornpipes, and jigs. Workshop music sheets will be provided, including melody lines and chords. Players of all levels and instruments are welcome.

About Harvest Home

Singing duo Annie and Dan Eastmond delight audiences with versatility on several instruments—guitar, mandolin, banjo, fiddle, pennywhistle, and concertina. They play Celtic and Traditional American Folk music and tell stories. Dan performs regularly with the Lake Chapter of the Old Time Fiddlers, and they are current presidents of the Olympus (Salt Lake Valley) Chapter Utah Storytelling Guild. Celtic music performances include the Malad Welsh Festival, Evanston Celtic Festival, and the Salt Lake Scottish Festival. They often combine music with stories, telling at Teton (Idaho), Weber (Ogden), and StoryCrossroads (Salt Lake) storytelling festivals. They have performed monthly with Heart & Soul since 2007 providing music to people in institutionalized settings, such as assisted living, rehabilitation, hospitals, and the prison. You can reach them at:

Salt
the

deastmond2@gmail.com 801-859-1151.